Senior Associate Travis Lovett Named to the Indianapolis Business Journal's Forty Under 40 Class of 2025

April 10, 2025

By: Travis D. Lovett

Krieg DeVault is pleased to announce that Senior Associate Travis D. Lovett has been named to the Indianapolis Business Journal's Forty Under 40 Class of 2025. Mr. Lovett was honored during a breakfast reception at the Indiana Roof Ballroom on Thursday, April 10.

The Indianapolis Business Journal annually recognizes individuals who have made their mark in their profession before the young age of 40. More than 250 people were nominated for the 2025 class, with only 40 receiving this prestigious honor. As part of the selection criteria, each honoree was nominated based off a series of questions on topics including professional achievements, leadership in their industry, and community involvement.

Travis Lovett is a member of Krieg DeVault's Business, Acquisitions, and Securities Practice. He concentrates in the areas of corporate transactions, advising both buyers and sellers through the negotiation of stock and asset acquisitions and advising clients on mergers and restructurings to meet operational objectives. In addition, Mr. Lovett advises privately held businesses on issues related to entity formation, transfer of ownership and recapitalization, fiduciary duties between owners and management, and other corporate governance matters.

Mr. Lovett also advises clients that transact and partner with Native American tribes and on various matters related to federal Indian law. Before joining Krieg DeVault, Mr. Lovett served as a Tribal Attorney for Indigenous communities in Canada where he routinely negotiated with government officials to determine if natural resource projects infringed Indigenous lands and advised tribal leaders on corporate and governance matters. He currently serves on the Community Board of Advisors for the Eiteljorg Museum, and is a recent past class member of the Hamilton County Leadership Academy.
