Ashley Rosenblatt supports clients through strategic legal counsel in business transactions, regulatory compliance, and legislative matters. Her experience includes advising on mergers and acquisitions, corporate governance, private equity & venture capital endeavors, as well as public policy issues. Prior to joining Krieg DeVault as an Associate, Ashley served as a Law Clerk with the firm and now contributes to the Business, Acquisitions, and Securities Practice, where she assists clients with foundational documentation, buy-sell agreements, and operational planning strategies.

Ashley previously held legal externships with the Indiana Gaming Commission and the Indiana Commercial Court, where she conducted legal research, drafted advisory memoranda, and contributed to published judicial orders involving complex commercial disputes. She also supported the Commission's legislative and regulatory initiatives, including preparing executive analyses for presentation to the Indiana General Assembly. Before entering the legal field, Ashley built a successful career in the alcohol beverages industry, working for the State's largest beer & wine wholesaler as well as the world's largest family owned and operated winery and distiller. In both experiences, Ashley was responsible for managing multimillion-dollar portfolios and leading strategic growth initiatives across sales and brand management roles. Ms. Rosenblatt began her career as a legislative assistant in the Indiana House of Representatives, serving under the Chairman of the House Public Policy committee, specializing in alcoholic beverages and gaming legislation.
