Rachel Keller supports clients by conducting legal research, drafting transactional documents, and contributing to strategic analysis in matters involving corporate governance, mergers and acquisitions, and securities regulation. Her experience includes working with attorneys on issues related to entity formation, shareholder agreements, antitrust compliance, and estate tax implications in corporate transactions.

Prior to joining Krieg DeVault, Rachel served as a Summer Associate with the firm, where she supported the business, real estate, employment, and health care practice groups. Ms. Keller also gained regulatory experience as a Legal Extern with the Indiana Gaming Commission, where she drafted settlement agreements and researched legislative developments. Her background includes litigation support in medical malpractice and personal injury matters, as well as supervisory experience in client services, where she led training initiatives and supported clients with tax-related compliance.
