Jennifer Ping serves as Executive Director of Governmental Affairs in the firm's Governmental Affairs and Public Advocacy Practice Group. She brings more than twenty years of experience in government relations to the firm and focuses her practice on federal, state and local legislative and executive branch lobbying and procurement consulting, political consulting, government regulatory consulting, and grassroots and grasstops consulting.

Throughout her career, Ms. Ping has been active in helping to shape Indiana's governmental landscape. She was the first female elected as chairwoman of the Marion County Republican Party and served as campaign chair and finance chair for the Sue Ellspermann for Lieutenant Governor. For 10 years she served as vice chair for the Marion County Republican Central Committee and vice chair of the 7th Indiana Congressional District for the Indiana State Republican Party. Ms. Ping also was the Chairwoman for Women for Pence Coalition for Indiana Governor Mike Pence.

Prior to joining Krieg DeVault, Ping served as principal of Bose Public Affairs Group, and Tabbert Hahn Ping Global Strategies where she assisted clients in several capacities, including lobbying and legislative monitoring, issue management, administrative and regulatory affairs, government procurement contracts and other client advocacy matters.
