

Energy and Public Utilities

For more than two decades Krieg DeVault has helped energy and utility clients achieve their business objectives. Because we understand how the energy sector operates we effectively advise both utilities and commercial energy users about transitioning to an open energy market. On the business side of natural gas, electricity, water, sewer, and telecommunications utility operations we have facilitated asset purchases, infrastructure projects, and supply contracts. With vast experience in administrative and regulatory proceedings before the Indiana Utility Regulatory Commission, we have a strong track record in dealing with Indiana legislative initiatives. Add our record of leadership in such organizations as the Midwest Energy Association and the National Energy Marketers Association, past in-house counsel experience at a leading natural gas marketer, and past chairmanship of the Indiana State Bar Association Utility Law Section, and our firm can deal with all the industry's technical, business, regulatory, and legal issues.
